HER TWENTIETH BIRTHDAY.

Friends Gather to Enjoy Occasion With Miss Delia Morton.

On the evening of Saturday, March 14th, quite a number of friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Morton, of the Pop-lar Springs section, to attend a birth-day party given by their daughter. Miss Delia, she having attained her 20th year on that day.

The guests, who numbered 25 or 40, began gathering between 7 and o'clock, chattering, laughing and talking, and all were brought to or-der by Duffie Brewer, who perform-ed at the organ and led the choir, singing beautiful and good old hymns. Then a very interesting game into the dining room, where a long table loaded with many good things to eat, was found. Some dainty lit-tle presents were received by the hostess from friends as remem-brances of the occasion.

At 11 o'clock the guests began departing, giving expressions of ar enjoyable and well-spent evening which will long be remembered by all present. We wish her many happy returns of her birthday anniver-

TO ELIMINATE THE CANVASS? Outline of Some Things that May Come Up in Convention.

Columbia, March 16 .- If the May Convention adopts a suggestion that will be made to the State Democratic Convention the county-to-county canvass for votes in the primary will be changed considerably. To have changed considerably. To have seven meetings, one in each Con-gressional District at a central location in the district, is a plan now being discussed in political circles. Heretofore campaign meetings have been numerous, the gatherings being held in each county of the State. Commencing in June the meetings have run close to the time set for the first primary.

Objections have been raised to this mode of campaigning, but efforts to -Mrs. C. G. Jaynes will be glad do away with the county-to-county to have her friends and customers canvass heretofore have proven unavailing. It is now pointed out that probably the compromise suggestion of holding Congressional District

The seven Congressional District meetings, under the proposed play would not constitute all of the meetings at which candidates for office would speak. To each candidate it would speak. To each candidate it would be left to arrange his own meetings, other than those at which all the candidates for State offices would meet.

One objection that is being raised to the county-to-county campaign meetings is that the candidates for the more important offices do have sufficient time in which present their views to the people. For instance, the Gubernatorial can-didates have heretofore had but 20 minutes, as a rule. In that time they hardly had time, it is said, to

Forty minutes to the candidates for Governor and the same amount of time to those for the United States Senate, the latter composing a separate campaign party, is given as a proper solution of the difficulty. Instead of starting the campaign meetings in June, it is suggested by those favoring the proposed change —Just opened up at Norman's dry goods store: A full line of dress goods, consisting of the latest the campaign meetings in June, it is suggested by those favoring the proposed change that July and August be utilized for the campaign meetings in the sevential of the campaign meetings in June, it is suggested by those favoring the proposed change that July and August be utilized for the campaign meetings in June, it is suggested by those favoring the proposed change that July and August be utilized for the campaign meetings in June, it is suggested by those favoring the proposed change that July and August be utilized for the campaign meetings in June, it is suggested by those favoring the proposed change that July and August be utilized for the campaign meetings in June, it is suggested by the proposed change that July and August be utilized for the campaign meetings in June, it is suggested by the proposed change that July and August be utilized for the campaign meetings in the seventies. ral Congressional Districts. the candidates could in the meanwhile go to whatever meetings might be arranged for them, or for any of

Under the district meetings plan the following cities would probably be the ones selected for the meetings: Columbia, Aiken, Charleston, Anderson, Greenville, Spartanburg, Rock Hill or some central point in some of the districts other than the cities named.

An effort will be made also at the convention to separate the Senator-rial campaign and the campaign for the State offices. It is pointed out by those in touch on political mat-ters that this will likely be done by the convention. The May Convention will take some action on the method of holding the campaign meetings and the State Executive Committee will map out the details.

This meeting was conducted by Rev. R. A. Sublett, of Greenville, one of the strongest and most widely known evangelists in the State. He has for 41 years labored valiantly and well in different portions of nine States, and we feel that we were very fortunate in having him in our town.

On Saturday, the 7th, a Baptist church of 49 charter members was organized in this hall, bearing the name Emanuel Baptist church. The following deacons were elected: Dr. W. A. Strickland, A. P. Tannery, D. I. Mulkey, W. L. England and J. M. Hull; church clerk, B. L. Mitchell; treasurer, J. H. Hudson. Rev. R. A. Sublett was chosen to act as moderator during the remainder of the meeting, in which 21 members were received, 13 by letter and 8 by experience, making a total of 70 mem-

We feel that great and lasting good has been accomplished, and Bro. Sublett's forceful sermons, kind disposition and warm handshakes won for him hosts of friends who will gladly welcome him back at any time.

J. A. Durham had charge of the music most of the time during the meeting, which added greatly to the interest and brought back past joys to Bro. Sublett and himself, as they have traveled together quite a great deal in the evangelistic work. Emanuel church will in the near future begin to plan for a church site and building. Arrangements are also being made to secure pas-tor. This church has started out with promising prospects, and we trust it will be the means of bringir many souls to Christ.

Bro. Sublett will return the first
